Social Media Polity

Phi Sigma Iota strongly values respect for all forms of diversity and expects its inductees, members, and advisors to refrain from behaviors that are discriminatory or abusive, especially on social media.

This is from the national association of school principals social media policy website <<https://www.nhs.us/social-media-guidelines/>>. It would also cover us if we wanted to re-post chapter social media on our own feeds. I put the quote I read in bold.

By posting material to NASSP-labeled social media, or mentioning NASSP and NASSP activities on social media with hashtags/tags, you grant to NASSP and the members of this community the nonexclusive, world-wide, transferable right and license to display, copy, publish, distribute, transmit, print, and use such information or other material in any way and in any medium, including but not limited to print or electronic form.

NASSP is not responsible for the content of third party social media websites and does not make any representations regarding the content or accuracy of materials on them. Before posting on NASSP-labeled social media channels, please review and abide by the terms of use and privacy policy of the specific social media website.

The opinions of NASSP social media channel creators, moderators, posters, and commentators, are their own, and not necessarily that of NASSP.

Phi Sigma Iota supports diversity and any corresponding institutional policies of universities with active chapters. As a whole, Phi Sigma Iota strongly values respect for all forms of diversity and expects its inductees, members, and advisors to refrain from behaviors that are discriminatory or abusive, especially on social media. Phi Sigma Iota is not responsible for the content of third party social media websites and does not make any representations regarding the content or accuracy of materials on them. Postings on social media sites by creators, moderators, posters, and commentators, are their own, and not necessarily that of Phi Sigma Iota.
